O&G is one of the premier building construction firms for industrial and manufacturing clients.

INDUSTRIAL CONSTRUCTION - whether it is a new structure to house a unique manufacturing process or a retrofit within a functioning facility with heightened security requirements, demands a partner with the right experience and expertise. Experience that is built with personnel, technology, equipment, financial strength and superior execution. Expertise that has been garnered through a passion for learning, doing and leading on a diverse and broad range of projects. A good partner is also always there at the other end of a call or text, regardless of time and day. And, a good building partner takes the worry out of the process so you can focus on doing what your firm does best.

The O&G Industrial Group is a division of O&G Industries, Inc., a family owned company since 1923 with a focus on construction services and materials based in Torrington, CT. The O&G Industrial Group was formed in 1985 to focus on the specialized needs of our manufacturer and industrial clients. Under the leadership of Esteban “Steve” Torres, Jr. the group grew to become a provider of choice for comprehensive construction services from concept to completion and beyond. Regardless of the project delivery method; general contracting, construction management, design-build, or others, O&G Industrial Group has the experience and is backed by an in-house estimating team, project management personnel, skilled tradesmen, clerical staff, and a fleet of company owned equipment to ensure project success.
O&G clients include some of world’s largest manufacturers who have trusted O&G to handle their industrial construction needs for decades. Some of our clients include:
